Eligible safety net providers who need assistance fully implementing 2014 certified EHR technology (CEHRT) and attaining Meaningful Use in the Medi-Cal EHR Incentive Program have a new opportunity to obtain subsidized, comprehensive technical assistance from CalHIPSO, the largest federally designated regional extension center (REC), through the newly established California Technical Assistance Program (CTAP).

What is the California Technical Assistance Program (CTAP)?

CTAP is a new program funded by the California Department of Health Care Services to assist eligible professionals and their practice groups to adopt and implement EHRs to attain Meaningful Use in the Medi-Cal EHR Incentive Program from 2015 to 2018. Services are free for eligible professionals and include both new and existing participants in the Medi-Cal EHR program. CalHIPSO is one of four organizations selected by the state to provide technical assistance in CTAP.
